World Winemakers

A new Grandes Vinos Collection comprises wines made in collaboration with expert winemakers from other world regions. The first collection includes two great wines from two parcels meticulously selected by Joey Tensley.

First Collection: Joey Tensley Anayón Parcela 15 and Anayón Parcela 81

Joey Tensley, recognized as the “Leading winemaker of the California region of Santa Barbara” by the prestigious magazine Wine Spectator has joined Grandes Vinos with his technical team on a collaborative endeavor. From amongst the incredible diversity of our vineyards, he selected two extraordinary parcels of Cariñena PDO from which these wine selections were created. We invite you to enjoy this limited collection.

The most important thing about Grandes Vinos team is their love for education. We all believe that once you think you know it all you have become complacent. We share a feeling that we can always make things better or different, that is very exciting!

It has taken meticulous work and effort, vineyard by vineyard, grape by grape, to find the ideal parcels to produce these unique wines.

I was so interested in the different terroir that I thought it would be fun to pick out a few old vine blocks and make them separate in open top fermenters. Very much by hand like I do in Santa Barbara.

“

*They are very small old vine parcels but show what can be done in such a very old appellation.
There are so many beautiful vineyards
with great terroir and history.*

“

*I was surprised by the terroir,
all the red rocky soil and the changes in elevation, which is something I'm not used to in Santa Barbara County.
The old vines were also great.*

The grapes

The altitude of the vineyards which is over 650 meters, the age of the vines which are perfectly adapted to the dry conditions, and the semi-desert climate for eight months of the year produce the unique grapes that are so characteristic of the area; small loose bunches with the perfect balance of sugar and acidity.

The small percentage of white grapes harvested from Parcel 81 has been mixed with the black grapes to add their freshness to the wine.

The Harvest

Just when the grapes are perfectly ripe, the parcels are harvested with care, in the purest traditional style, carefully placing the grapes in boxes to ensure they arrive at the winery in perfect condition.

Vinification

The vinification of the fruit from these exceptional parcels is carried out separately in the traditional way. It is hand-pumped in open oak barrels to maximize the expression of the terroir and its unique characteristics. The wine is then aged in French oak barrels for three months prior to bottling.
